

A MESSAGE FROM JEFF HARTMANN

For many organizations, FY 2019–2020 was a year like no other. We celebrated Read to Grow’s 20th Anniversary in fall 2019 and welcomed our new executive director, Suzannah Holsenbeck, at the start of 2020. Suzannah had two months to learn the ins and outs of the organization before COVID-19 struck and changed our world.

In response to COVID-19, Read to Grow partnered with RJ Julia Booksellers and Senator Chris Murphy to raise funds to distribute brand new books to children at school meal sites around the state. Hundreds of monetary donations poured in and we were able to distribute over 35,000 books to children in May and June of 2020 (this distribution continued and, to-date, we have distributed over 67,000 books through this initiative).

Just before the pandemic, Read to Grow joined forces with numerous organizations to plan and launch the first ever Bridgeport Book Fest. Read to Grow agreed to serve as the managing sponsor for the dynamic, innovative event. Due to COVID, the plan to inaugurate an in-person event in Spring of 2020 was put on hold until 2022, and Read to Grow focused on ensuring that Bridgeport children received new books during the pandemic.

Much of our programming pivoted to virtual offerings, including our Early Steps to School Success program (ESSS). In fall of 2019, ESSS expanded to a fourth site, Truman School, in New Haven, joining Columbus, Celentano and Lincoln Bassett. Coordinators continued to reach families virtually and deepened their community connections to ensure that families received the services they needed during such trying times.

In Spring 2020, the Read to Grow board moved to establish the Roxanne J. Coady Fund for Children’s Literacy in a pooled investment fund held by The Community Foundation for Greater New Haven. Initial monies were raised as part of the 20th Anniversary Celebration, held in Fall 2019. Read to Grow receives investment income from the fund and has the ability to access the principal subject to a 60-day notice period.

Read to Grow applied for and received a first round Paycheck Protection Program (PPP) loan of $92,800 in Spring 2020.

Over 68,000 books were donated to Read to Grow.

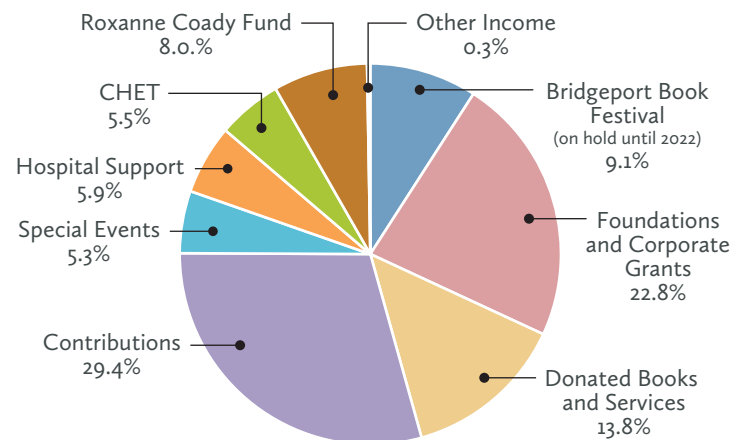

We distributed over 148,000 books throughout the year, including 35,217 through our Books for Babies Newborn and Prenatal programs, and 113,354 through our Books for Kids programs.

Read to Grow received an unqualified, or clean, audit opinion for the 2019–2020 fiscal year from external auditors, Donald L. Perlroth & Company, CPAs.
